Your Employee Rights Under the Family and Medical Leave Act

What is FMLA leave?

The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) is a federal law that provides eligible employees with job-protected leave for qualifying family and medical reasons. The U.S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division (WHD) enforces the FMLA for most employees.

Eligible employees can take up to 12 workweeks of FMLA leave in a 12-month period for:

- The birth, adoption or foster placement of a child with you,
- Your serious mental or physical health condition that makes you unable to work,
- To care for your spouse, child or parent with a serious mental or physical health condition, and
- Certain qualifying reasons related to the foreign deployment of your spouse, child or parent who is a military servicemember.

An eligible employee who is the spouse, child, parent or next of kin of a covered servicemember with a serious injury or illness may take up to 26 workweeks of FMLA leave in a single 12-month period to care for the servicemember.

You have the right to use FMLA leave in one block of time. When it is medically necessary or otherwise permitted, you may take FMLA leave intermittently in separate blocks of time, or on a reduced schedule by working less hours each day or week. Read Fact Sheet #28M(c) for more information.

FMLA leave is not paid leave, but you may choose, or be required by your employer, to use any employer-provided paid leave if your employer's paid leave policy covers the reason for which you need FMLA leave.

Am I eligible to take FMLA leave?

You are an eligible employee if all of the following apply:

- You work for a covered employer,
- You have worked for your employer at least 12 months,
- You have at least 1,250 hours of service for your employer during the 12 months before your leave, and
- Your employer has at least 50 employees within 75 miles of your work location.

Airline flight crew employees have different "hours of service" requirements.

You work for a covered employer if one of the following applies:

- You work for a private employer that had at least 50 employees during at least 20 workweeks in the current or previous calendar year,
- You work for an elementary or public or private secondary school, or
- You work for a public agency, such as a local, state or federal government agency. Most federal employees are covered by Title II of the FMLA, administered by the Office of Personnel Management.

How do I request FMLA leave?

Generally, to request FMLA leave you must:

- Follow your employer's normal policies for requesting leave,
- Give notice at least 30 days before your need for FMLA leave, or
- If advance notice is not possible, give notice as soon as possible.

You do not have to share a medical diagnosis but must provide enough information to your employer so they can determine whether the leave qualifies for FMLA protection. You must also inform your employer if FMLA leave was previously taken or approved for the same reason when requesting additional leave.

Your employer may request certification from a health care provider to verify medical leave and may request certification of a qualifying exigency.

The FMLA does not affect any federal or state law prohibiting discrimination or supersede any state or local law or collective bargaining agreement that provides greater family or medical leave rights.

State employees may be subject to certain limitations in pursuit of direct lawsuits regarding leave for their own serious health conditions. Most federal and certain congressional employees are also covered by the law but are subject to the jurisdiction of the U.S. Office of Personnel Management or Congress.

What does my employer need to do?

If you are eligible for FMLA leave, your employer must:

- Allow you to take job-protected time off work for a qualifying reason,
- Continue your group health plan coverage while you are on leave on the same basis as if you had not taken leave, and
- Allow you to return to the same job, or a virtually identical job with the same pay, benefits and other working conditions, including shift and location, at the end of your leave.

Your employer cannot interfere with your FMLA rights or threaten or punish you for exercising your rights under the law. For example, your employer cannot retaliate against you for requesting FMLA leave or cooperating with a WHD investigation.

After becoming aware that your need for leave is for a reason that may qualify under the FMLA, your employer must confirm whether you are eligible or not eligible for FMLA leave. If your employer determines that you are eligible, your employer must notify you in writing:

- About your FMLA rights and responsibilities, and
- How much of your requested leave, if any, will be FMLA-protected leave.

Where can I find more information?

Call 1-866-487-9243 or visit dol.gov/fmla to learn more.

If you believe your rights under the FMLA have been violated, you may file a complaint with WHD or file a private lawsuit against your employer in court. Scan the QR code to learn about our WHD complaint process.

Agreement Regarding Resolution of Disputes

As a condition of my employment with Homecare Associates of RI, Inc. doing business as Visiting Angels ("Visiting Angels"), I agree to arbitrate any dispute or claim related to my employment with Visiting Angels, and I waive my right to sue in court and have a jury trial. Should there ever be any dispute or claim concerning my employment, including termination of employment, I and Visiting Angels agree to have such disputes or claims resolved by arbitration. This includes, but is not limited to, claims involving a violation of public policy; all statutory claims for discrimination and/or harassment and/or retaliation under federal, state, or local law; and claims concerning wages or other compensation, whether based on statute or any other grounds.

This agreement to arbitrate shall be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act and shall remain in force even after I separate from Visiting Angels for any reason.

For purposes of this Agreement, a claim against any of Visiting Angels' shareholders, directors, officers, employees, subsidiaries, affiliates, or the shareholders, directors, officers, or employees of any such entities, will be considered a claim against Visiting Angels.

I agree that arbitration will be administered by the American Arbitration Association ("AAA") and that the AAA's Employment Arbitration Rules will govern, except as modified by this Agreement. I understand that the AAA's Employment Arbitration Rules are available online at www.adr.org.

The costs for the arbitration will be governed by the AAA's policy on costs for employment-related disputes. That policy currently provides that the initial filing fee for an employee will be no more than $200 (which may be waived under certain circumstances), and that the employer will be responsible for all other filing fees, administrative fees, hearing fees, and arbitrator compensation. In the event that the AAA's initial filing fee is higher than the filing fee for a court action in the trial court in the jurisdiction where I reside, I will only be required to contribute the cost of what I would have paid to file an action in court.

Arbitration proceedings will be conducted by a single arbitrator. The arbitrator shall be bound by the terms of any and all written agreements between Visiting Angels and me and by applicable law. I agree that any dispute or claim between Visiting Angels and me will be resolved on an individual basis only. No arbitration shall include any disputes or claims on behalf of any other employees, such as class actions or collective actions. The arbitrator shall not have the authority to hear or issue any award concerning the claims of a class action or collective action or to consolidate the claims of more than one employee or the claims of a class of employees into a single arbitration proceeding, to the maximum extent permitted by law. If Visiting Angels or I have any disagreement about whether an arbitration can include any dispute or claim on behalf of any other employees, that disagreement will be decided by a court, not by an arbitrator.

Visiting Angels agrees that should there be arbitration proceedings in accordance with this Agreement, I would be free to pursue all available remedies in such arbitration proceedings. For example, this agreement does not alter any applicable statute of limitations and does not prevent the arbitrator from awarding all types of damages available under the applicable statute(s) or common law.

I agree that in the event that any court of competent jurisdiction shall determine that any portion of this agreement to arbitrate exceeds the scope permitted by applicable law, the court shall have the authority to modify or "blue pencil" such portion so as to render it enforceable while maintaining the parties' original intent to the maximum extent possible. If a court determines that a legal dispute shall not be resolved by arbitration for any reason, the dispute or claim shall be decided by a judge, without a jury.

I understand that in a lawsuit in court, I would have certain rights to a trial by a jury or a judge. I voluntarily and knowingly agree to give up those rights, and I understand that all disputes or claims relating to my employment (or termination of employment) will instead be decided by an arbitrator. I understand that I have a right to consult with a person of my choosing, including an attorney, before signing this Agreement.

I understand that my employment with Visiting Angels is at-will, which means that either Visiting Angels or I may terminate the employment relationship for any reason, at any time, with or without notice.

By signing this Agreement, I am affirming that I have carefully read this Agreement and agree to be bound by its terms.

I agree that my electronic signature/acceptance of this Agreement shall have the same binding effect as a handwritten signature and acceptance.
